A Journey Through Milan Brera District

In our exploration of Brera District, our journey takes us to Brera Botanical Garden: a quiet and tiny haven where a multitude of plants and flowers are carefully kept. We sit in the caffè nearby and take a breath in the cold morning air of Milan city.

THE CONCEPT BEHIND BRERA CAFE SUB-COLLECTION

The “Brera Cafè” collection embraces new designs with botanical inspirations: flowers, plants and colourful proposals. Geometries of bicolours cover tiles-like forms. Graphic and precise designs recall wallpapers of Milan’s trendy cafès, using a palette of grays, neutrals and cold tones.

Brera Cafè is a sub-collection of Stellini Group’s Brera Collection.

ABOUT THE INFLUENCES

The Brera Collection pays homage to the 1970s Italian design sensibility, offering a fusion of vibrant hues and captivating patterns that defined the era. With a nod to the exuberant spirit of Milan’s Brera District, known for its artistry and creativity, these fabrics invite you to embark on a journey through an era that celebrates both flair and sophistication.

A circular inset image on the left side of the slide shows an interior scene. On a dark teal wall, a framed painting of a woman in a green coat and hat is displayed. Below the painting, a wooden table with two black chairs is visible. The floor is made of large, light-colored marble tiles.
